

An aerial photograph of a rural landscape with a central reservoir. The reservoir is a dark blue-green body of water with several smaller ponds branching off to the east. The surrounding land is a mix of green fields, dense forests, and some buildings. A solid blue line outlines the entire watershed area, while a dashed blue line follows the reservoir's shoreline. A scale bar and text are located in the bottom left corner.

Vly Creek Reservoir Watershed

*National Hydrography Dataset
Andy Arthur, March 5, 2025*

0 0.25 0.5 0.75 1 mi